Ok, I admit, there are 1001 articles written already about how to find a niche market.

Admittedly, I have contributed or written about 14 of those 1001 articles.

But we learn and grow and hopefully grow and learn from others as we scour the net for the most useful internet marketing tips.

Recently, i came into possession of some excellent material from Peter Drew of EVOll and Bruteforce linking fame. From the wonderful shores of Australia comes this absolutely fabulous tip, use Alexa to decode the traffic streams of some of the biggest sites used by online marketers looking for hot marketing niches like resveratrol ,reverse cell phone lookup,.

His tip was logical, too funny and stunningly too serious to ignore.
